Naturalization Is Expedited for Alien Doctors

U.S. Gives Them Priority So
They Can Help to Offset Shortage of Physicians

From the Herald Tribune Bureau

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Attorney General Francis Biddle announced today that because of the acute shortage of civilian doctors throughout the United States the Immigration and Naturalization Service has been directed to expedite the naturalization of alien physicians.

Mr. Biddle said that Commissioner Earl G. Harrison has issued instructions to expedite the filing of petitions for naturalization and to hold hearings in advance of their regular order on the calendar in the cases of practicing alien physicians or aliens who would be qualified to practice if they were citizens.

In issuing the instructions, Mr. Harrison pointed out that many states, either by statute or by the administrative ruling of licensing boards, require applicants to establish American citizenship before they are admitted to the state licensing examinations for the medical profession. Other states, he said, issue temporary licenses which are subject to cancellation unless citizenship is obtained within a specified period of time.

The order expediting naturalization of physicians supplements instructions issued to the service in January, 1942, to expedite applications for citizenship submitted by aliens in the armed forces or engaged in war work. In the cases of doctors, they are not required under the new instructions to obtain a letter from a war agency, testifying to the nature of their employment, to secure preference in naturalization.

The Attorney General emphasized that the new procedure in no way affects the statutory requirements for naturalization but simply expedites the handling of applications.

THE SPRINGFIELD DAILY NEWS, SPRINGFIELD, MASS.: WEDNESD.

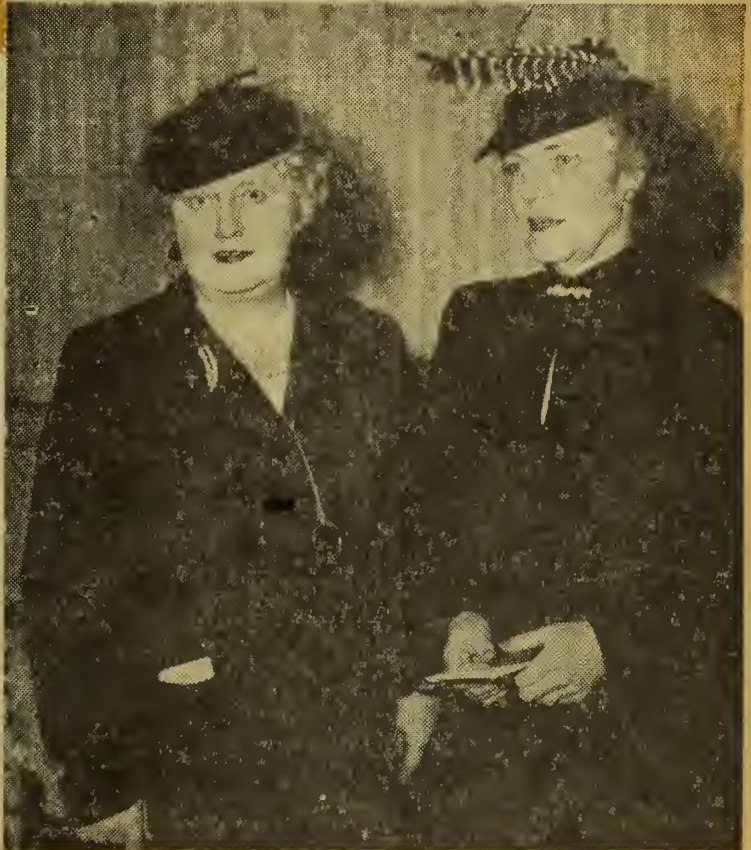

It is the immigrants of this country who have dug the wells and drawn the water to make this nation the great one she is," Miss Alice Winifred O'Connor, supervisor of social service in the state division of immigration and Americanization, told members of the Springfield Women's club at a meeting this morning in the clubhouse. Speaking on citizenship in wartime and the problems of it, she stressed the point that the contributions of aliens to this country far exceeded their deficiencies, and that until the 11th amendment of the constitution is destroyed, all citizens whether Japanese, English or German, should be treated alike. "Denationalizing the Japanese is absolutely unconstitutional," she said.

In speaking about citizenship, Miss O'Connor praised Massachusetts birth records as being among the best in the country and emphasized the need of a national system of records. "The only reason we don't have one now is the fact that Congress can't decide what department should accept the responsibility."

"Since Pearl Harbor and the alien registration law of 1940 there has been a noticeable increase of applications for citizenship. Before this act, many aliens were actually just as Americanized as we and felt no difference in being an alien. War is another reason, for most industries will not employ aliens."

Miss O'Connor has been an employee of the commonwealth since June 1918, and is chairman of the committee on administration, National Council on Naturalization and Citizenship; director of the International Institute of Boston; a member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Conference on Social Work and associate director of the National Citizenship Education program.

Went to lunch with Dick. He came in for special meeting of Library Commissioners.

Commissioner of Civil Service had authorized competitive civil service promotional examinations for the positions. The Bd. discussed the situation and it was suggested, that if the examinations were not given soon, the Chairman of the Board write a letter to Civil Service requesting prompt action.

Miss O'Connor reported about the Annual Conference of Naturalization and Citizenship and stated that Mr. Harrison had plans to consolidate physical plants of Immigration & Nat. Service, beginning with N. Y. where the old WPA bldg was to be used to house both services, including the Ellis Is. personnel. He planned to begin naturalization ref. service, including nat. aid at this N. Y. office and possibly might extend this type of work to other nat. districts. The Board discussed the situation as it might affect the future of our state work. ~~Miss O'Connor reported concerning~~ if any the Immigration heads from Philadelphia planned to be in Boston soon.

Mr. White suggested that the Board plan to have a meeting for such a person similar to the meeting arranged for Earl Harrison in the enemy alien identification program.

The minutes of the meeting of January 19, 1943 were read by the Secretary and approved as read.

The secretary brought to the attention of the Board that the agent of the Bldg had inquired if the Division wished to rent Room 207 -- formerly used by N.C.E.P. and for which rent is paid by N.P.A. until March 1, 1943. The annual rental will be $437.00. The Board viewed the room. It was moved by Dr. Churchill and seconded by Mr. Gomes, that, if possible the additional room be rented. The Secretary was directed to communicate with Mr. Varney the business agent to this effect.

The secretary reported that, as yet the vacancies caused by the resignations of Mrs. Grandford senior statistical clerk, and Mrs. Cherniel, social worker, were not filled altho' the Mme. Dalma Carli, operatic Soprano, led the singing of patriotic songs and made a decided hit in her rendition of "Habanera" from Carmen. For the occasion she wore an ensemble of French blue with a touch of red and had white flowers in her hair. The American flag formed the background. Mme. Louise Dumas in a charming black ensemble adorned with white pearls accompanied her at the piano. Dean Clarence R. Skinner gave the address "Variety and Unity in American Life". Refreshments were served and a social hour ensued.

House Bill No. 1295 in the Massachusetts State Legislature has to do with the suspension of the State's English speaking classes for adults. It is the feeling of social workers and those concerned with adult education that this bill should be defeated and the classes continued.

According to Marion R. Blackwell, general secretary of the International Institute of Boston, Massachusetts has an outstanding program of work with foreign-born groups who are not familiar with the English language—a program which should not be curtailed.

Sometimes it seems very cruel that those who make the great sacrifice are always the finest, that those who escape it deliberately are allowed to enjoy the freedom others' deaths have got for them, to enjoy it at such cost and having given nothing; but the fact is they could give nothing as they have nothing to give.

THE

Immigration Work Is Consolidated Here; Ellis Island Solely for Custody of Aliens

Consolidation of the activities of the Immigration and Naturalization Service in this city in a twelve-story building the government recently has acquired at 70 Columbus Avenue, between Sixty-second and Sixty-third Streets, was announced yesterday.

The new office will handle all of the immigration activities now being carried on at Ellis Island, with the exception of the alien detention quarters. It will house the re-entry permit division of the United States Barge Office, the naturalization activities at present located in the Federal Building, 641 Washington Street, and the office of the Supervisor of Special Inspection at 341 Fifth Avenue.

In view of the removal from Ellis Island of other activities, additional space will be provided for the custody of a considerably larger number of aliens than now is possible.

The present location of the boarding division of the Immigration and Naturalization Service at the Barge Office will not be disturbed.

Plans are being carried out as rapidly as possible to effect the necessary changes and alterations in the Columbus Avenue building and it is anticipated that the actual moving of employes, furniture, records and supplies will begin within the next few weeks.

Arrangements are being made with a view to providing expeditious and convenient handling of the public in the new quarters, including the establishment of an adequate information center and provision for a courtroom of a large size for use by Federal judges for naturalization purposes.

This consolidation is expected to contribute greatly to the convenience of the public, eliminating travel to Ellis Island, and to add to the efficiency of operation.

The work was directed by Earl G. Harrison, Commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The present agony of the world is ours; if we are Christians we are bound to enter into it, to accept our responsibility for it, to share to the full the work of defending, healing, saving, thru hard work, thru true contribution, thru deep humility, thru service.

Mr. Clough called.

1,200 Filipino Soldiers Take Oath of Citizenship to U. S.

Special to The Christian Science Monitor

CAMP BEALE, Calif.—Twelve hundred Filipino soldiers, their right hands raised, repeated in unison the oath to "support and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States of America against all enemies foreign and domestic," and so became citizens of the country whose uniform they wear in a mass naturalization ceremony here. It was the largest number of men ever naturalized in a group in any branch of the armed forces.

The new citizens are members of a Filipino regiment training here.

A Filipino private, questioned by Capt. Chandler Sprague during the course of the ceremony, expressed the feeling of most of his comrades when he said:

"This is one of the two days we have been waiting for. The other day we are still waiting for. It is the day we land in the Philippines and release our families who are prisoners there."

Many of the soldiers who took the oath of citizenship have families held by the enemy in the islands.

Col. Robert H. Offley, commander of the regiment, who was reared in the Philippines, where his father was first American Governor of the Island of Mendora, said:

"I believe the granting of citizenship to these men of our Army is altogether fitting and proper and will be a great uplift to their morale. They, more than anyone else, realize the big job that lies ahead of all of us in the Pacific and they undoubtedly will play a tremendous part in doing that job. They are fine soldiers and I am proud to be their commander."

Although many of the officers and men of the regiment already have become citizens, it is the hope of Colonel Offley that every soldier in the outfit will become a citizen before the group sails into the war zone.

BERMUDA CONFERENCE HOLDS OUT LITTLE HOPE FOR REFUGEES

The Anglo-American refugee conference opened in Hamilton, Bermuda, on April 19, to the accompaniment of pessimistic predictions in the United States. Some of the newspapers' lack of enthusiasm for the conference, which is expected to last from ten days to three weeks, may have been due to chagrin at being excluded from the meetings and restricted to prepared news releases. But interested organizations also believe that the delegates will accomplish little and Richard K. Law, head of the British delegation, warned against "false or premature hopes." Instead of studying the broad problems of what should be done to help the hundreds of thousands of victims of Nazi persecution in occupied Europe, the conference is concerning itself only with aiding some of those who have escaped to neutral countries. If any Germans occupied all of France last November, and their Ambassadors have been giving money and supplies to thousands of needy refugees. More recently, General Giraud has joined their efforts by shipping food to Spain from North African ports and by helping some refugees to enter French Morocco and Algeria. These piecemeal efforts have not been enough, however, and ways must now be found of supporting these refugees for the duration of the war. In addition to those in Spain, Portugal and Switzerland, the problem of the 30,000 Bulgarian Jews whom King Boris' government is reported willing to release may be studied with a view to finding them a temporary settlement while awaiting transportation to Palestine.

IDEALS vs. PRACTICAL CONSIDERATIONS.

In Bermuda a conflict is being waged between "ideals" and "practical considerations." The British and Americans recognize the obligation to aid those who are fighting the common enemy; but many obstacles undeniably block the path leading to fulfillment of that obligation. Chief among these difficulties is the acute shipping shortage. The submarine warfare and the needs of the Allied fronts hinder both the supplying of refugees in neutral countries and their removal to places where they would be more easily cared for. Assuming, however, that shipping could be found, there is the very real possibility that Hitler will not permit Jews and other persecuted persons to leave German-controlled territory. The United States recently received an indication that Hitler is determined to carry out his policy of annihilating the attention is given to the larger subject it will be as, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons on April 7, purely "exploratory."

PUBLIC OPINION DEMANDED ACTION

The calling of the conference is clearly the result of vigorous demands that have recently been made by Jewish and Christian groups in England and the United States. In response to this public pressure, Ambassador Halifax and Secretary of State Hull agreed to have their governments study the plight of the refugees, but suggested that accommodations for them should be found as near as possible to their present location and that they should be supported in neutral countries in so far as transportation facilities makes this possible.

The major question under discussion at Bermuda is the very narrow one of what can be done now for the 20,000 refugees—mostly French—in Spain and Portugal and the 12,000 who are in Switzerland. For these three neutral countries the refugees constitute a serious problem in international law because most of them lack passports. More important, however, is the pressure these uninvited immigrants exert on already overtaxed food supplies. The United States and Britain have recognized the inability of Spain, impoverished by civil war, to care for the heavy migration that occurred over the Pyrenees after the Jewish race in Europe when the Nazi-controlled régime at Vichy rescinded permission in November 1942 for 5,000 children to leave France, even though preliminary preparations had been made for sending them to the United States.

Even if the first two difficulties are overcome, the problem of finding places of settlement remains serious because of rigid legislative and administrative regulations on immigration now prevailing in most countries. Owing to the scarcity of food, it may prove impracticable for the United Kingdom to receive additional refugees, but some British territories could accept many more, especially Africa—21,000 Poles, for example, fled via Russia and Iran to British East Africa in 1942. Also, if the United States annual immigration quota of 153,774 were filled, thousands more could be admitted to this country. During the war years 1939-42 the State Department issued only 228,964 of the 461,322 visas allowed by law. Although many persons undoubtedly were granted visas who then found it impossible to reach the United States, severe administrative restrictions were chiefly responsible for the gaps between the possible and the actual. The Latin American countries and Canada also have stringent regulations on immigration that might conceivably be modified in view of the fact that many of these nations could find room for thousands of Europe's refugees. But whatever temporary measures are devised at Bermuda, it is clear that only a United Nations victory can make a permanent solution possible.

Asiatic Exclusion Hearings Due Soon By Mary Hornaday

A sequel to the American visit of Mme. Chiang Kai-shek now paying a farewell call at the White House is the hearing to be given by Congress this month on the question of repealing the Asiatic Exclusion section of the United States immigration laws.

Hearings have been called for May 19 and 20 by the House Immigration Committee at which half a dozen bills bearing on the subject will be discussed. These range from a measure introduced by Representative John Lesinski (D) of Michigan, to admit to the United States Chinese wives of American citizens, to one being drafted by Representative Walter H. Judd (R) of Minnesota, for 10 years a medical missionary in China, to do away with race discriminations entirely in American immigration laws.

The Minnesota Representative argues that racial hatred is one of the things that got the United States into the war, which will never be really won until it is wiped out of our hearts and off our statute books.

Chinese Not Behind Proposed Changes

It should be noted that although the discrimination in the American immigration laws has been a sore point with Chinese, they have not initiated this repeal themselves. Inquiry at the Chinese Embassy here has always brought the reply that the immigration laws are solely a matter for Americans' own decision.

Under the exclusion laws, Chinese laborers are not permitted to enter the United States. Chinese teachers, students, merchants and travelers are admitted upon presentation of special certificates. All Chinese born in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are automatically citizens of the United States, but no Chinese born in China may become naturalized citizens of the United States.

The "Big Four" among the United Nations today are Great Britain, Soviet Russia, the United States, and China. Our statutes discriminate only against the Chinese.

It is not proposed to let down the immigration bars entirely to the Chinese, but merely to put them on a quota basis along with other nations. On such a basis, the number admitted each year would be somewhere between 100 and 200—not enough to make any real difference in the nation's economic life, but enough to convince the Chinese that the United States considers them real allies in the battle against aggression.

Wherever she has met with her own people in the United States, Mme. Chiang has complimented them on their growth in American esteem. She has pointed out that the Chinese generally have kept out of jail and off the relief rolls. Yet the American immigration policy concerning them has its basis in resentment and contempt that was stirred up at the end of the last century against importation of cheap "coolie" labor.

Several attempts have been made in recent years to modify or repeal the Asiatic Exclusion laws, but each time the Japanese did something that turned Americans against all Asiatics. Latest instance was in 1931 when Henry L. Stimson, then Secretary of State, pledged his help in repealing the exclusion laws only to have the Japanese invade Manchuria, thus doubly punishing China.

Cuba Has No Discriminatory Laws

The United States is not the only nation that has discriminated against Orientals in its immigration laws. Canada, Australia, New Zealand and practically all the Latin American republics have stiff discriminatory laws.

Cuba is held up as the one example of a nation that has been forward-looking enough to abolish discrimination. In a treaty signed last year, between Cuba and China it is specified that "the nationals of each of the high contracting parties shall be at liberty to enter or leave the territory of the other under the same conditions as the nationals of the other countries."

In the recent extraterritorial treaties signed between the United States and Great Britain and China the subject of Chinese immigration and naturalization was not mentioned.

Those who are fearful of much Chinese immigration will probably be referred during the forthcoming hearings to Wendell Willkie's book "One World" in which he not only pleads for racial equality but points out that after the war the Chinese are going to be busy developing their own vast areas of uncultivated land.

Sponsors of the new legislation are willing to agree that in case of widespread unemployment after the war, the whole immigration policy should be reviewed, but in the meantime, they say, the United States can set an example to the world in seeing that outworn discriminatory laws are repealed and an unnecessary source of irritation and inharmony between the East and the West thus eliminated.

"America and the United Nations with Emphasis on Poland" is the subject which Mr. Bronislas A. Jezierski will discuss at the Members' luncheon on Wednesday, May 5. The speaker modestly suggests that he be introduced as "a Mr. Jezierski of Cambridge", but it is worth mentioning also that he is a native of Poland, graduated from a college there, who came to this country some years ago and continued his education through attainment of several degrees and admission to the Massachusetts Bar. He served in the first world war as a member of the Polish Military Commission which was formed here with the sanction of our Congress by Ignace Paderewski. Mr. Jezierski was later decorated for his war service by the Polish Government. He has served with the Massachusetts State Department of Education, Division of Immigration and Americanization, and is at present a member of the Attorney General's staff.

The social problems of war time are, for the most part, not new; rather they are but accentuations of the familiar phenomena with which social agencies deal in peace time and all, in the main, only for modifications or extensions of peacetime organizations and methodology.

An outstanding authority on immigration and naturalization law and practice, Marian Schibsby this month takes up the position of assistant to the commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice. Her new duties will include the editing of a monthly bulletin intended for civic, social, and community agencies interested in immigration and citizenship problems as well as for the officers and employees of the service. That Miss Schibsby is well qualified for this responsibility is apparent to those who are familiar with the "Interpreter Releases" which she has been editing for the past several years for the Common Council for American Unity. She brings a backlog of eighteen years experience with the council (formerly the Foreign Language Information Service)

" Again we face an unpredictable year, but it is sure to prove, as did the past year, the vital importance of community services and social work in war time. Good public relations and sound publicity sense are essential now as never before. Social Agencies must not only do their work. They must tell the public what they do and interpret the services they render to their country and their community.

Chinese Citizenship Act

TO THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR:

Perhaps the most serious hindrances to to the fullest growth of friendship between China and America have been the American statutes which completely exclude Chinese immigration and which ban Chinese naturalization. Legislated years ago, because of unreasoning fear of cheap Chinese coolie labor and an underlying smug assumption of white superiority, these Chinese exclusion laws have been a continual affront to the Chinese people.

Now America is reasserting her true spirit of democratic fair play, and is almost ready to remove these unjust barriers.

The Chinese Citizenship Act of 1943, a bill "to grant to the Chinese rights of entry to the United States and rights to citizenship," is now before Congress. This bill (H. R. 1882) was introduced in the House of Representatives on Feb. 17, 1943, and referred to the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization where it is still under consideration.

If passed, this Act would repeal the Chinese Exclusion Act and extend the naturalization privilege to Chinese.

Under the existing American naturalization law, Chinese are not eligible for citizenship. And their rights of entry have been completely taken away by the statutes known as the "Chinese Exclusion Act."

The bill which is now before Congress would change all that, giving to the Chinese rights of entry and rights to citizenship on a par with other peoples.

The early passage of this bill will be awaited eagerly by all who wish to see rapid growth of good will between China and America. May American public opinion express itself in firm tones of friendship now and cause this bill to become law.

For men's minds are like ships. Both go down when their buoyancy is destroyed. Some minds are leaky tramps and make heavy weather, when founder in the tranquillity of peace. Some are destroyers—quick, aggressive, but not able to withstand a great shock, a torpedo; and some minds are like battleships which may withstand the shock zone or more torpedoes and remain afloat. But no ship, no mind is unsinkable.

Up Austria!

Thousands of Austrians who are legally in the United States after harrowing experiences in Nazi-controlled Europe, will welcome with fervent gratitude the ruling of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in New York that they must not be considered citizens of Germany and therefore are not enemy aliens. This decision implies that Austria, like France and Belgium, exists as an entity within Hitler's Reich, and has, therefore, a good chance of being freed by an Allied victory. That is tremendous encouragement to Austrian leaders in New York who are planning for the day of liberation.

Hitler decreed on July 3, 1938, that Austrians everywhere became automatically citizens of Germany. Naturally, the Austrians themselves were not consulted. Yet everywhere they went, they felt the stigma of the Nazi-engineered pre-war Anschluss, by which little Austria and her big, dangerous neighbor were to have trade relations.

Vienna was the first foreign city to fall to Hitler's legions. Some Austrians fled the country when they could. Others, who also revered the red and white flag of their own freedom and hated the swastika, had to stay behind, enduring the hated conqueror with as much pain as the Czechs, who once made up part of the old Austro-Hungarian empire.

After 1938, there seemed little hope at first for peace-loving Austria. But when the tide of war began to turn in favor of the Allied nations, Austrian refugees took new courage. They came to realize that it would be only a question of time before beloved Vienna would be purged of the cohorts of their black-sheep native son.

Now, with a federal court decision that the United States never legally recognized Hitler's decree making Germans of Austrians, the sons and daughters of old Osterreich on Allied soils are undoubtedly destined to receive the same status as refugees from France, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Belgium and Greece. They are all lovers of liberty and peace.

On Easy Citizenship

Answer of the Day—Veterans of the Spanish-American War, World War I and the Mexican Border campaign, who never secured American citizenship, have until Dec. 7, 1943, to do it the easy way.

No declaration of intention, no certificate of arrival, no naturalization document fees are required — only honorable discharge papers from armies engaged in our previous wars. But Dec. 7 is the deadline.

For details see: Miss Alice Winifred O'Connor, State Division of Immigration and Americanization, Room 209, 73 Tremont st., or the U. S. Naturalization Office in the same building.

Chinese Quota Of 105 Asked Immigration Change Finds Favor in House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Establishment of post-war democracy in the Orient would be aided by passage of the bill to end 61 years of Chinese exclusion and permit 105 Chinese to enter the United States annually on a quota basis, Rep. Magnuson (D., Wash), told the House today.

Speaking during debate on his bill to relax the immigration ban, and permit naturalization of those legally resident here, Magnuson said.

"We have talked a great deal in platitudes and generalities regarding our feelings toward our allies, and how the allies are going to rebuild this world. This is the first time since the war began that we have an opportunity to do something concrete about it, and toward the most valiant ally of all."

Answering objections of opponents, Magnuson maintained that his amendment to the immigration laws would counteract Japanese propaganda based on exclusion of Orientals.

Rep. Gossett (D., Tex), who directed debate for the majority, had introduced a bill to reduce all immigration quotas 50 per cent. for a period of 10 years, but he told the House the Magnuson bill was a "war measure and peace measure," which had his wholehearted support.

"This bill," Gossett said, "is the simplest, most inexpensive investment in world peace that has yet been proposed to this Congress."

of locating them?—Mrs. Anna Tucker.

ANSWER—The only possible method is through the Red Cross. They have a free service that will take from nine to 11 months; or a cable service costing $8 and taking about three months. For these, see Miss Goldsmith at the Red Cross, 161 Massachusetts av., Boston.

Bushnell Rule On Military Leaves

Any state employe who leaves his job, by resignation or otherwise, to enter military service, is entitled to leave of absence status, effective until one year after the military service term is ended, Atty-Gen. Bushnell ruled yesterday.

The opinion was voiced in answer to a request by Julius E. Warren, commissioner of education. Persons entering military service from state employment will remain members of the retirement system and may not withdraw their equities from its annuity fund, he said, adding that those resigning for other reasons, whether or not they enter the service, may withdraw accumulated equities.

My dear Mr. Varney:

Thank you for your letter of October 6, 1942.

I telephoned your office October 13th and talked to Miss McKay, who thought I had better send you a letter on the matter.

I believe that the best solution of the situation in my office caused by the resignation of Mrs. Chmiel, Social Worker, will be to have Miss Sangiorgio reclassified as Principal Clerk. Her duties after reclassification can be adjusted, I assume, to cover the type of work done by Mrs. Chmiel. As you already know, the senior clerks and some of the junior clerks in my office have always done a similar type of work to that of the social workers. So far as Miss Sangiorgio is concerned she has already been functioning with more responsible duties than many of the social workers.

I talked to Miss Malloy of the Civil Service in regard to the matter on the 13th as I was not quite certain what would be done about the vacancies. I do not want to have any reclassification deprive me of a staff member. Miss Malloy seemed to be of the belief that this was not in order. Miss Malloy also told me that reclassification, if approved by the Division of Personnel and Standardization, will be subject to a promotional examination under Civil Service rules. Miss Malloy stated that all promotions and reclassifications were subject to promotional examinations.

She also stated that it was impossible to reclassify Miss Sangiorgio, or promote her, from the classification of Senior Clerk to Social Worker because of the present law. I asked her when that law was passed and she told me that it really was not a state law but a federal law, but that the Civil Service had accepted it for the Division of Public Welfare because the federal government, under the Social Security Act, reimbursed salaries of social workers. It is obvious, therefore, that there is no law which would prevent the reclassification of Miss Sangiorgio from Senior Clerk to Social Worker except the laws that the Civil Service Division themselves make without benefit of the Legislature.

However, so far as I am concerned, the Principal Clerk allocation will be satisfactory. I have asked for this reclassification for Miss Sangiorgio for many years and if this is the opportune time to get it, by all means go ahead with it.

Mrs. Cimiel went off the payroll September 2nd. There is a vacancy since that time. It has not been filled by either a temporary or a provisional appointment as yet.

Will it be possible for Miss Sangiorgio's appointment as Principal Clerk to be made as a provisional appointment dating September 2nd?

If so, will you notify us to that effect before Miss Bisesti makes up the payroll, which I assume she will do on Monday, the 19th. She is now on vacation.

Very truly yours,

Supervisor of Social Service
